

Custom Boxes Kitting

HIGHLIGHTS

Tru Art specializes in distributing product, especially with Direct Mail. We have been mailing calendars for decades, and our services are expanding into packages with more promotional items in them. As shown on the pages here, we can create custom packaging for you with three different printing processes.

In addition, we can create many of the contents needed for each package, such as note pads, journals, planners, catalogs, sticker sheets, introductory letters, and more. Plus, we can receive specialty items from other promotional product suppliers to be included in the package. When we are printing the box and additional materials, we do not mind adding something extra to make the impact special.

See the images below showing our experience. These packages were distributed via the United States Postal Service. As people are working remotely, businesses have a greater need to stay in touch with their customers and team members. A kit in a custom box is a great way to introduce your company to someone new or re-enforce an existing relationship.

Our Custom Mailers are perfect for:

- customer gifts
- virtual tradeshow
- new hire welcome kits
- award ceremonies
- incoming students
- work-from-home morale boosts
- ... and so much more!

Kits are an extra special touch suitable to many occasions. Fill our custom sized and decorated boxes with the perfect product(s), a special note, and a splash of colorful paper fill to complete the look.
